

Vary(Subtle) works *at the pixel level*. It is supposed to be used with prompts that are alike (or the same).

But I used Vary(Subtle) with a *different* prompt - the same as in the previous exercise with Vary(Strong), where I made a background and then drew a tea set with that background. It is hard for MJ to figure out what to do with Subtle; results are all over the place, and many are interesting. I have attached some 4x4 outputs, also, for demonstration.

Images 1-2, prompt: starry swirly lines backdrop --v 6.0

The rest, Vary(Subtle), prompt: elegant tea set, England 1850s --v 6.0

